If you have consented to the processing of your personal information, then I may process your information for the purposes set out above to the extent to which you have consented;

I do not use automated decision-making in the processing of your personal data.

Security & Retention of personal information

I am committed to ensuring that your information is secure. To prevent unauthorised access or disclosure, I have put in place suitable physical, electronic, and managerial procedures to safeguard and secure the information I collect. Details of the internal steps are available on request.

My Retention Policy (copies on request) details how long I hold data for and how I dispose of it. The usual period will be the period of limitation in relation to a claim and specific steps will be taken if information is retained for further periods.

Any mobile device including laptop, tablet and mobile phone is password protected and encrypted to ensure security.

The legal basis for processing your personal information

I rely on the following as the lawful bases, as identified in the GDPR, to collect and use your personal information:

- Consent of the data subject.
- Performance of a contract with the data subject or to take steps to enter into a contract.
- Compliance with a legal obligation.
- To protect the vital interests of a data subject or another person.
- Performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller.
- The legitimate interests of ourselves, or a third party, except where such interests are overridden by the interests, rights or freedoms of the data subject.

My primary lawful bases for processing your information are consent and performance of the contract by which I am instructed to provide legal services, but other lawful bases may become relevant. For example, in the event of a professional negligence claim, I will have a legitimate interest in providing information to my insurer.
